*...I think I must have missed that module
when I was at theological college!*

We are looking forward to worshipping together again. But Covid is going to remain a risk for the foreseeable future. Help us to keep everyone safe during Sunday services:

1. Wash your hands regularly for at least 20 seconds.

2. Wear a face covering during the service. Sadly we won't be serving refreshments initially.

3. Use alcohol gel on your hands when you enter the building.

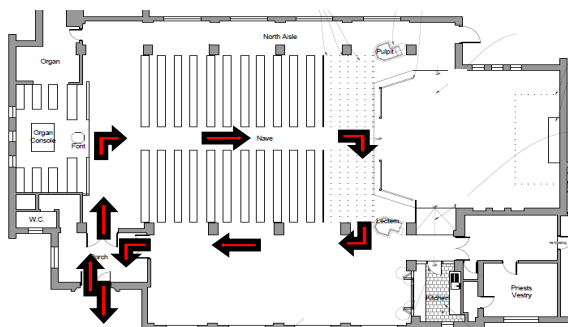

4. Stay at least 2m apart from anyone who is not in your own household or bubble. This is why some pews are not in use.

5. Sadly we won't be able to include sung worship at the moment

6. There will be some changes to the way that we take communion: We will not be able to shake hands during the peace, communion will only be taken in one kind (wafer). These will be kept covered until they are distributed. Tina will use alcohol gel and drop the wafers onto your palm to avoid physical contact.

7. Follow the new one way system as you move around the building

Contact deficit?

‘It takes a village to raise a child,’ according to a traditional Nigerian proverb. The thought is a rather lovely one, I think. Parenting is, of course, the primary route for children’s development, but it’s clear that even at their very best, parents need other people too. To a greater or lesser degree, bringing up children is a communal effort.

Naturally, grandparents often figure strongly in this, aunts and uncles too, as well as siblings, friends, neighbours, and more. To the list, I’d also add teachers and other kindly professionals, innumerable volunteers in all kinds of organisations, and those individuals prepared to share their time, enthusiasm, and expertise with interested youngsters.

Looking back across the years, as a child I remember fondly the farmer I accompanied as his sheepdog gave birth, the railwayman who let me help with the signals, the uncle who taught me how to raise plants, the granny whose quiet reading time became my life’s inspiration, and the playmates with whom I spent

hours

and

hours.

For my own children,

I delight in what they received from child-minders and teachers, countless genial churchgoers who gave them time and attention, and volunteer coaches who with dedication and affable persistence taught them physical skills that were beyond me. These things are mutual responsibility and shared care that literally makes us as people.

How sad it was then to see reports in the news that the lack of these influences over the months of lockdown is discernible in children now in the first year of school. It seems that for many youngsters the strangely restricted life of pandemic safety has negatively impacted their language development. As well as the likely consequences of this for children's learning, it also impacts individuals' self-esteem and confidence.

Implicit in 'it takes a village to raise a child' is contact and stimulus from people outside a child's immediate household. Despite the best efforts of parents to overcome the contact deficit, the possible damage from the lack of it is worrying. Something vital to a child's well-being is denied in its absence.

News reports also pointed out that many schools are responding by implementing strategies to overcome these developmental issues. The government has said it appreciates the significance of language development in the early years and that targeted support is being offered to children. According to the opposition this is a 'catch-up' that falls far short of what is needed.

Whatever the politics of the matter, this in my mind is one of the crucial deprivations of the past months. If it really does 'take a village to raise a child' then we all have a part to play in the development of all children. By listening, talking, and sharing with our youngest neighbours, and those who are their direct carers – when appropriate opportunities come up – we can help to make good what has been missed.

Whether in organised volunteering, or simply interested good neighbourliness, we can encourage the children of our community. That is surely what the Saviour who taught with a child at his side, insisting that welcoming the child was welcoming even God (Mark 9:37), would have us do.

GIVING ENVELOPES

It is good to plan our giving, and some people like to do this with cash through regular giving envelopes. Do you currently receive weekly giving envelopes?

We are wondering whether anyone would be interested in receiving those monthly instead of weekly?

We will be continuing the weekly ones, we are just wondering whether to obtain some monthly ones.

If you are interested in that, or to start receiving envelopes to plan your giving, please contact Linda in the Parish office (01244 376085 or office.htblacon@btinternet.com). We are also happy to receive giving directly from bank accounts, and if you would like to set up a Standing Order, Linda in the office can also help you with that.

A READER IN A CARE HOME

During the past grim year, I'm sure I am not the only one to have asked, "Where is God in all this?" Working in a care home, this question has seemed all the more poignant, particularly at the beginning of the Covid 19 crisis, when the disease came back to us with a resident who had been admitted to hospital. Several dear residents were lost to us, due to Covid and/or the isolation we had to impose upon them in their rooms. What with the fear of the unknown, together with the need for strict observance of the use of PPE (personal protective equipment) and heightened vigilance of infection control, the extra shifts required to cover several staff who were off sick (some with Covid), we battened down the hatches and prepared ourselves to ride out the siege. Thankfully, restrictions are being lifted, visitors are being allowed to see their relatives, all of whom have now been vaccinated. Staffing levels are still low but morale is beginning to change and there seems to be the sniff of hope.

Where does a Reader fit into all this? To be honest, at first, work took over my life completely. Having to do 10, 11, 12 shifts in a row left me exhausted. From being privileged to care personally for the dying and comfort the bereaved, my work was stripped down to the basics of care – keep them clean, comfortable, warm and fed.

Then things changed.

The position of Kitchen Assistant came up. I had already done numerous shifts in the kitchen so I knew the job and thoroughly enjoyed it.

When I was offered the role officially, I nearly bit their hands off! Although still working extremely hard and rushing around cleaning as well as preparing drinks trolleys and sending out meal trolleys, followed by collecting said trolleys and washing everything up, I am much more comfortable. It is again not a job I would have looked for, but I truly believe God had his hand in it, with his ever immaculate timing.

Jeremiah 29:11 says, "For I know the plans I have for you; plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future". This is my personal verse and I have relied upon it heavily for several years. I firmly believe God sent me to the care home to work and gave me the opportunities and experiences I have had since I started there in December 2018. Now that my shift rota is static, God has enabled me to have time to reconnect with him, through my prayers (I can now stay awake) and also to recommence my duties at Holy Trinity. Drafting my first sermon in a year was an unnerving exercise but I was very happy to be back, preaching and teaching. I am so grateful that we are able to meet each other again in Church (socially distanced, of course!)

God Bless,
Sarah Dutton

Monday morning Art class

Every Monday morning a group of people gather to make art and craft. Coffee is served and the company is cheerful. Over the years the group has created small individual pieces to take home and larger communal works often representing the community spirit of Trinity.

My name is Alison (Ali ) Pitt and I've had the great pleasure of guiding folk through a multitude of art projects ,first through West Cheshire College courses now as a self employed community art teacher. Each season often brings inspiration; Spring brings Easter crafts, in the summer we make art for our gardens ,in the Autumn we often look towards making a communal project and of course Winter is cacophony of Christmas creations.

Although there is usually a main theme ,people can follow it quite loosely. So around the table(or tables in our new socially distanced society) people can paint, sew, bead or collage....whichever they fancy. Monday mornings need to be enjoyable!

We never miss opportunity to decorate the church ...so after a new toilet was built some of the group painted individual canvas's to go on the far too blank, white walls. With a sea theme obviously!

Around the walls of the cafe area are tree paintings. Our 'orchard' is painted in acrylic paint and some of the trees have beads and sequins sewn into the canvas.

As you enter the church, above the main door is a star. This star was painted and decorated by the group as part of a project being held across Blacon (it was supposed to be just over Christmas ,but 2 1/2 years later it's still there...which is great!)

Just inside the foyer is a textile wall hanging made up of little square pictures. Each square represents an activity and group that takes place in the church. Each member of the art class had their own square(s) and using a combination of sewing ,collage and painting created a representation of the activity. It was like being in an art factory ....someone was on a sewing machine making the canvas backing, someone was manning the glue gun, someone else was sweating over the iron, and everyone else frantically sewing and painting...I think it's a fab piece of art.

At Christmas its time to make angels/fairies. To be honest from October onwards we are thinking Christmas decs! I try and design a new fairy each year for us to make but you cannot beat the old fave of pipe cleaner and netting...its only at this time of year that I feel the need to use the word 'ruched' as I demonstrate how to create a fairy skirt.

In more normal, non covid, times we share the space with the "knit and natter" group and people popping in for teas , coffees( and cake obviously!). At 11.45 the place is packed as Sue wheels in the soup, which I'm told is incredibly delicious but sadly the arrival of the soup indicates its time for me to cycle off to my next class!

-John 15:3

Cleansed by The Word

What I did and what I said,
What you hear and all you've read,
That I offer; freely give
That my blessed Church should live.

Though you may not understand
See my ever outstretched hand,
Long as earth may turn and spin
Blessed church will welcome in.

Cast away your inner doubt,
I have poured my loving out
Deep within in you where I dwell
That my blessed church should tell.

At the evening, at the dawn;
Each new day and hopeful morn,
We together both shall rise
Blessed church will be my eyes.

Blacon support group. Hospice of the Good Shepherd

Due to Covid restrictions for over 12 months our group of 11 has been unable to hold our usual fundraising events.

We have kept in touch as a group fortnightly on Zoom meetings. We have been able to raise a much smaller amount than usual. This has been by selling items on eBay, one member making masks and selling them and by donations. We recently paid in the sum of £1,200. We still have a funeral donation to be added to this and we will continue to do our best until hopefully we can resume our fundraising activities.

Thank you for your support and interest in the past.

Sabbatical Research

As you all know, Tina and Clive both have projects that they are working on during their sabbatical. They have asked for everyone's help.

Tina's survey is available online, you can access it at <https://www.surveymonkey.co.uk/r/G2L53N3> and it should take no more than five minutes to complete. Answers will be anonymous and will be treated in confidence.

Clive: Jesus promised that wherever two or three are gathered together in his name, there he is in the midst (Matthew 18.20). In these circumstances - whether in church buildings or in home settings:

- what is Jesus wanting to do?
- how can we best cooperate with him?
- what can we learn from the Bible about this?
- can you share anything from your own experience or from the life of your church relevant to this?
- have you any further comments or questions?

Please send your reply to Louise at louise.htblacon@btinternet.com and she will forward them to Clive

Bible Bite

A short story from the Bible

It can be read in the Bible in 2 Sam 6: 1-10, 2 Chron 13, 15:1-28

Copies of God's Laws for the Jews were kept in a special holy chest - the Ark. It had been stored at Keriath Jearum for 20 years...

When King David made Jerusalem his capital, he decided to bring the Ark there.

David brought his soldiers and a huge crowd came too

They put the Ark on a new cart and set off down the hill.

The oxen stumbled, and Uzzah thought the Ark might fall off the cart.

He forgot the Ark was holy and held on to it.

David was very angry with God that Uzzah had died

Then he thought of God's power and was very afraid.

So he left the Ark stored at the house of Obed Edom.

David realised that they had not treated God's Ark with respect.

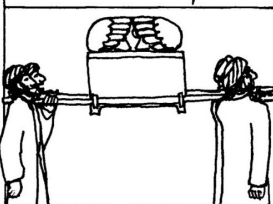

He talked to the Levites, the tribe that God had chosen to be His priests.

They organised musicians and trumpeters, and people to carry the Ark.

God's holy Ark was treated with respect.

Everyone cheered and sang as the Ark was carried into Jerusalem.
